

London Decompression 2019

Event wrap up and financial report

Our second year at Fire in Vauxhall went more smoothly than our first. We developed a good relationship with the event site manager who was able to brief the security team that we were an event different to any that they might have worked before. We also brought in our own 'Black Ops' security team who successfully liaised with the venue security and, together with the experienced ranger team, were able to de-escalate any issues before they became a problem. Gate and cloakroom operated more efficiently, with shorter queues.

1792 tickets were sold and 1661 people attended. Full price tickets were £25 and low income tickets, £15, at the same price as in 2018. We implemented an automated volunteer sign up system, resulting in 184 volunteers registering interest compared to just 55 last year. Of these, 167 volunteers took part in the event build before the gates opened. Tickets were only available to London Decompression members, with 86% of participants having been to at least one burner event before.

The new Ents team put a lot of work into ensuring there was a wide variety of art, music and performance at the event, limited only by the space available. Decom had its own dedicated Consent and Leave a Better Trace teams and the venue cleaners thanked us for leaving the venue in such a good state!
